The Catholic Faith in Slow Motion (no. 2)

Fr. Phillip Johnson

The second in a series of reflections about thinking, praying, and professing the Faith of the Church in celebration of the Year of Faith, proclaimed by Pope Benedict XVI

I believe in one God, . . . maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible. The first words of the Creed reflect the first words of the Bible: “In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.” This is the very first truth, the foundational truth, that whatever exists does so by the act of God.

Because we live in a culture still more or less rooted in a biblical faith, we might think that every religion agrees on this first truth – that this first part of the Creed is about what Christianity has in common with all other religions. But this is a false assumption. Certainly the two other biblical religions, Judaism and Islam, share this faith. But almost all other religions, ancient and modern, assume that a god, or the gods, are a part of the “all things visible and invisible” – that the creation somehow emanates from a god, or that God and the universe are simply forever co-existent. In a sense, the Bible alone has a true creation story.

The Catholic faith, drawing on the concepts of Greek philosophy, uses two terms to sharpen the definition of the word “created”. (1) “Ex nihilo” (“out of nothing”). This means that God is not simply the divine artist, making the universe of some pre-existent stuff. Out of nothing did God create all things. Before there was anything, there was God alone. (2) Just so, God's being and the being of the created “all things” are infinitely different. God is pure Being, the very definition of being. While the being of the created “all things” is derived. They (we!) exist by God's free gift of our being.

All things visible and invisible: Angels and aardvarks, stars and mosquitos, forces and powers, physical and spiritual and psychic; laws of nature and patterns of beauty; all hidden structures of all the hierarchies of being, and you, and me.

“In the beginning,” at the genesis, at the source: The creating act founded “all things”. But we are not to think of God's creating work simply as an event that took place a long, long, long, time ago. “Genesis” has a structural as well as a temporal meaning. The word “create” includes God's in-this-present-moment holding of all things in existence. If God stops creating, all things cease to exist.

This does not mean that the universe has no autonomy whatsoever. God's creating act sets the universe free, sustained by the laws of its existence. Nevertheless, at the foundations of the existence of all things, is God's creating act. There is then an order in all things that may rightly be studied scientifically. Big bang theories and theories of evolution are not in and of themselves atheistic. Because, by definition, no scientific theory can answer the question, “Why is there something rather than nothing?”.

I believe in one God . . . maker of heaven and earth. All the above is but a clearing of the mind, so that we can come to the real point. We do not simply profess that God is creator; we profess faith in this Creator. We profess a declaration of trust, in order to enter into a right relation with our Creator. This was, in fact, for Jesus, the very first meaning of “faith” – personal trust in the Fatherly care of the Creator. Personal trust and endless gratitude. It is the first and foundational truth: the existence of “all things” including my own personal existence, has the character of a personal gift. It is a wonderful mystery to ponder as the Thanksgiving holiday approaches.

Texts of Hope and Expectation with Fr. Johnson

(simple, basic, discussions of the Advent Scripture Readings)

“Ignorance of the Scriptures is ignorance of Christ” (Second Vatican Council, quoting St. Jerome). Of course, no Catholic who regularly attends Mass is entirely ignorant of the Holy Scriptures. However many wish for a deeper understanding of the Faith through the Scriptures. You have questions. You would like to know “where to start” in learning more. You also have insights to share. And you know more than you think you know.

This Advent Season, please join Fr. Johnson in listening more closely to the Word of God as it comes to us through the Scriptures.

When? Saturdays, immediately following the 4:30 Mass, December 1, 8, 15 and 22.

Where? St. Thomas More Hall

What Scripture texts will we discuss? The passages read at the Sunday Masses through the Advent Season.

Who? High School age and older.

If you cannot attend all four sessions, join us for those you can. Each session we will start afresh. It's an opportunity to offer your heart and mind to God this coming Advent season.

Christmas Gift Giving Opportunity

The Saint Thomas More Parish Women's Club has requested that in lieu of the past efforts of our Christmas Families Project we send gift cards for Target, ShopRite, Wal-Mart, Payless, Pathmark (or check if preferred) directly to Sr. Claire Sullivan, Annunciation BVM Convent, 603 W. Browning Road, Bellmawr, NJ 08031. Sister Claire will distribute them to those she has determined to be in very difficult circumstances. It would be preferable if the cards were sent before Thanksgiving. A special thank you to everyone who generously contributed through the years and for your continuing concern to help those in need.

Small Christian Community Faith Sharing

Please note that we put the following week's Gospel passage in this space so you can prepare all week for proclamation of the Gospel the following Sunday. Faith Sharing helps ordinary people connect their faith with everyday life experiences.

Excerpt from the Gospel for Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe, November 25, 2012 – John 18:33-37

Pilate said to Jesus, "Are you the King of the Jews?" Jesus answered, "Do you say this on your own or have others told you about me?" Pilate answered, "I am not a Jew, am I? Your own nation and the chief priests handed you over to me. What have you done?" Jesus answered, "My kingdom does not belong to this world. If my kingdom did belong to this world, my attendants would be fighting to keep me from being handed over to the Jews. But as it is, my kingdom is not here." So Pilate said to him, "Then you are a king?" Jesus answered, "You say I am a king. For this I was born and for this I came into the world, to testify to the truth. Everyone who belongs to the truth listens to my voice."

Commentary:

Today's Gospel is all about the world not recognizing Jesus. Neither the Roman world nor the Jewish religious community recognized who Jesus really was. They call Jesus "king" but they do not realize the truth of what they say. In John's Gospel Jesus is in control of the situation. He is already the victor. He walks the way of the cross like a king to his throne and he rules from the cross. Jesus' power is the truth he has and the truth he is. His kingdom is not of this world, but his kingdom is very much coming into this world of ours. That kingdom calls into question the way things are done by the rulers of this world.

Questions for Reflection and Sharing:

1. What is God saying to me in this Gospel passage?
2. What word or phrase in this Gospel speaks to me?
3. What word or phrase in the Reflection resonates with me?
