Stewardship Reflection :19th Sunday in Ordinary Time—Stewards Seek Heavenly Treasure

“For where your treasure is, there also your heart will be.” Luke 12: 34

Jesus encourages His Stewards to build up our treasure in heaven. The world encourages us to build up our treasure in real estate, investments, and material goods. How much time are you investing in building up a worldly treasure? How much time are you investing in building up a heavenly treasure? To invest more time in the things of heaven, you must let go of some of the things of this world.

The Catholic Faith In Slow Motion (No. 83)

Fr. Phillip Johnson

A series of reflections about, professing, praying, thinking, and living the Faith of the Church

The Foundation of Moral Values

Sometimes you hear it said that opposition to abortion is a particularly Catholic concern, or that life-long fidelity in marriage is a distinctively Christian rule. (I choose these issues as they are now so contentious.) It is not true, as the study of non-Catholic religions and cultures demonstrates. In an essay entitled “The Tao” (the Chinese word for “the Way”). C. S. Lewis reminds us of the common and foundational moral vision “in all its forms, Platonic, Aristotelian, Stoic, Christian, and Oriental alike”.*

This thing which I have called for convenience the Tao, and which others may call Natural Law, or Traditional Morality, or the First Principles of Practical Reason, or the First Platitudes, is not one among a series of possible systems of value. It is the sole source of all value judgments. If it is rejected all value is rejected. The effort to refute it and raise a new system of value in its place is self-contradictory. There never has been, and never will be, a radically new judgment of value in the history of the world. What purport to be new systems (or as they now call them “ideologies”) all consist of fragments from the Tao itself, arbitrarily wrenched from their context in the whole, and then swollen to madness in their isolation.

In fact, the proliferation of “new” value systems is now so familiar to us that there is a danger of taking them for granted, of failing to recognize their cost in human misery. Lewis describes the “rebellion of new ideologies against the Tao” as “a rebellion of the branches against the tree. If the rebels could succeed, they would find that they destroyed themselves. The human mind has no more power of inventing a new value than of imagining a new primary color” (my emphasis).

Lewis concludes the essay with a collection of moral precepts from ancient Chinese, Egyptian, Babylonian, Norse, Anglo-Saxon, Hindu and Native American cultures.

Returning to the question of a distinctive Catholic value system . . . Why does the Church call us to life-long fidelity in marriage? Because fidelity is and always has been fundamental to what marriage is. Fidelity belongs to the nature of married love. The Hindu bride and groom, to take but one example, also pledge life-long fidelity one to another. Because, in all times and places, the lover naturally needs to pledge love forever. Conjugal love, by its nature, endures.

But is there nothing distinctive or new in the Catholic moral vision? Indeed there is. But it is not the foundational values themselves. After all, the Church teaches us that eight of the Ten Commandments are an expression of natural law accessible to all people through natural reason. What is distinctive is that the Christian revelation traces the roots of this universal human moral vision to the Love of the eternal God. What is distinctive is the radical application of this ethic of love revealed in Jesus Christ.

For example, while all cultures have recognized the great good of children and the fundamental obligation of parents, few have recognized the right to life of the unborn child. It was those who profess that the Eternal Word of God entered the world through the womb who could finally bear witness to the sanctity of the life of the unborn child. This was no “new morality”. It was a very old morality renewed, deepened, and radicalized by the Christian revelation.

Each journey of faith begins with an invitation, a call from beyond ourselves, a call from God. Salvation history begins when God called Abraham, our Father in faith. It was a call to leave his home and family and go to an unknown, unspecified country. Abraham did not ask where, why, how or for how long. He just went. He started out on a journey of faith.

And so it was when Jesus saw Peter and his brother Andrew casting a net into the sea, and simply said, “Come follow me.” They did not ask where, why, how or for how long. They just went. They started out on a journey of faith.

Come and Journey with other Adults interested in learning more about the Catholic Faith!

Adults who have been baptized in another Christian Tradition
Adults baptized Catholic but have had no instruction in the faith or have not received First Eucharist or Confirmation.

NINETEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME AUGUST 7, 2016

Small Christian Community Faith Sharing

Please note that we put the following week's Gospel passage in this space so you can prepare all week for Proclamation of the Gospel the following Sunday. Faith Sharing helps ordinary people connect their faith with everyday life experiences.

Excerpt from the Gospel for the Twentieth Sunday in Ordinary Time, August 14, 2016 - Luke 12:49—53

Jesus said: "Do you think that I have come to give peace on earth? No, I tell you, but rather division. For from now on in one house there will be five divided, three against two and two against three. They will be divided, father against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against her daughter—in law."

Commentary:

Jesus shocked his disciples when he declared that he would cast fire and cause division rather than peace upon the earth. What kind of fire did Jesus have in mind? God's fire both purifies and cleanses, and it inspires a reverent fear of God and of his word in us. Jesus regarded the coming of the kingdom of God as a time of judgment. His word of judgment was meant to help people take seriously the consequences of their choices—either for or against God. The essence of Christianity is loyalty to Jesus Christ, a loyalty that takes precedence over every other relationship. The love of God compels us to choose who will be first in our lives. To place any relationship (or anything else) above God is a form of idolatry. Jesus insists that his disciples give him the loyalty which is only due to God, a loyalty which is higher than spouse or kin. Does the love of Jesus Christ compel you to put God first in all you do?

Questions for Reflection and Sharing:

1. What is God saying to me in this Gospel passage?
2. What word or phrase in this Gospel speaks to me?
3. What word or phrase in the Commentary resonates with me?

Prominent defenders of abortion rights publicly admit that abortion kills human beings. There is simply no debate among honest, informed people that abortion kills a distinct human being. We must end abortion and euthanasia now! Our future as a nation depends on it.
